Aboriginal Engagement Strategies
Aboriginal Engagement Strategies

As part of the South West Sydney Keep Them Safe Community Action Plan, services and agencies felt that they could work more effectively with Aboriginal children, families and communities if existing engagement strategies were made more readily available.

This summary is a starting point to provide insight into the strategies that may assist services and agencies in working more effectively with Aboriginal children, families, communities and services. It provides a brief overview of a range of strategies that are used by jurisdictions and agencies across Australia.

These have been sourced through a review of each State, Territory and Commonwealth Government department along with public Universities, Research Centres and other organisations. It only includes publicly available strategies that have been found on websites and as such it is not an exhaustive list.

While some documents have been produced for use in specific contexts or with specific target groups, they may provide useful guiding principals for engagement.

This summary does not endorse the use of any particular strategy and recognises that local approaches are often the most effective.

All documents summarised can be downloaded for use from http://www.hsnet.nsw.gov.au/group_home.aspx?grpID=803 or from the original website listed against each summary. HSNet is a NSW government website that is free to join.
